

Educate | Advocate | Engage | Transform

The Health & Quality of Life of "Seasoned" Women

Dr. Emily B. Rivet, MD, MBA, FACS, FASCRS is a Colon and Rectal Surgeon and Associate Professor of Surgery and Internal Medicine at Virginia Commonwealth University.

Fellowship-trained in both Colon & Rectal Surgery and Hospice & Palliative Medicine, she focuses on improving communication in serious illness care and advancing pathways for HPV-related anal dysplasia and cancer. She leads national and local efforts to raise awareness and expand access to prevention and treatment.